Camp Toolangi
Sat 24th September to
Tue 27th September

A Victorian run camp for all Australians living with PWS

The Time Out Camp

is designed to encourage those living with Prader-Willi Syndrome and their families to develop life-long friendships, build resilience and self-confidence all while gaining an understanding of PWS in a supportive and fun environment.

Our main focus is to encourage inclusion for all, by providing a range of fun outdoor activities suited to all abilities and ages. And, our professionally facilitated educational sessions and programs are designed to arm families with information and skills to help them navigate their PWS journey and best care for and support themselves and their loved one with PWS.

So, no matter how young or old you are, there is something to be gained by all who attend the Time Out Camp.

What will it cost to attend the 2022 Time Out Camp?

JUST $50!

In the past we have had different pricing for members and non-members.

To welcome families back after 3 years of not being able to offer the camp, as a one-off for this year we have lowered the camp fee to $50 for all attendees.

If a Professional Carer will be accompanying an Adult participant, please contact Sarah Rees for Applicable Carer Fees.

Meals and accommodation are subsidised by the PWSA Victoria.

Can I attend if I'm not from Victoria or a PWSA Victoria member?

YES! We welcome attendees from all over Australia to join us. This is a great opportunity to meet other PWS families, share your stories and maybe make some new, lifelong friends!

We highly encourage families to use their NDIS funding or talk to their planner about how they can utilise their funding for the participation fee for the person with PWS and Education and support program for Parents and Siblings (carers).

If you are experiencing financial difficulty, please contact Renee Zilm: renee.zilm@pwsavic.org.au

Your details will remain strictly confidential.
